

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=27824&:t=Chris_Hemsworth_Talks_THOR_Approach_Experience_and_Preparation

Inside a new issue of SFX Magazine, courtesy of good friend ReallronMan of SpiderMedia, with assistance from another amigo and CBM's very own Wolvie09, there are in-depth interviews with the director and cast of the much-anticipated THOR film. While the remaining interviews are coming your way soon, below you can check what Chris Hemsworth had to say portraying the mighty Avenger. "It's incredible," nods Chris Hemsworth, who joined director today. "There are so many talented people involved, and it's very exciting to have so much success with things. It feels like we're on a real roll, and hopefully that'll continue." "I was playing a god, but what do you draw from to play a god? You try to humanise it, I guess. In my world, who are the gods? We talked about a lot of Shakespeare plays, kings and queens and princes and royalty. That's [director's] business. [Kenneth Branagh] does that world better