Chris Hemsworth answered some more questions concerning THOR and The Avengers on the red carpet at The Golden Globes last night. He goes on the talk about Natalie Portman, his new found star dome and the floods in native Australia. I have transcribed the portions of the interview pertinent to THOR and The Avengers that we have not previously heard. On THOR... It's incredible. It's based on the comic book and it's a beautiful meld of Viking and Norse mythology and science fiction and he becomes Earth bound. It's got everything, love, action, a bit of comedy. On The Avengers... The whole thing with Iron Man, The Hulk, Captain America and THOR. I just read the script, an early draft and it's mind blowing. I have no idea how they're going to shoot it. It's huge and incredible.
