

Talking to Collider, The Amazing Spider-Man's Chris Zylka has talked a little about his experiences on the upcoming 3D movie, specifically what it was like to work with director Marc Webb and the impressive cast of actors. Sadly, talk didn't turn to what we'll see Flash Thompson get up to, but it sounds as if the movie is most definitely in the right hands. What was it like to play Flash Thompson and have the experience of making a film on the scale of The Amazing Spider-Man? You just try to focus. As an artist or as an actor, you just try to focus and stay in that world and block it all out. It was an absolute pleasure to work with Marc Webb. And, Andrew [Garfield] and Emma [Stone] are brilliant. Obviously, Sally [Field] and Martin [Sheen] are not bad at their craft. How was Marc Webb to work with? He is bringing

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=45600&t=Chris_Zylka_Talks_Briefly_About_Playing_Flash_Thompson_In_The_Amazing_Spider-Man