

Christian Bale has a clean slate when shooting wraps on Christopher Nolan's third and final Bat flick. But now Variety have posted a list of movies in development with some high profile directors that Bale is apparently looking at. And one is another CBM, although a very different sort.. ..They include a third remake of "A Star is Born" starring Beyonce Knowles and directed by Clint Eastwood; Fox's "Gold," directed by Michael Mann; a remake of Korean thriller "Old Boy" that Spike Lee will direct; Relativity's "Out of the Furnace" directed by Scott Cooper; and "Noah," Darren Aronofsky's biblical epic at Paramount. Not much more info is known except that the role in Oldboy is said to be the villain. And what a villain that would be! Evil doesn't begin to describe this sick bastard. Anyway, Variety also say that Bale has not been officially attached to any of the above projects, nor

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=45092&t=Christian_Bale_Considering_Villain_Role_In_Spike_Lees_iOldboy