

According to the ever-reliable Deadline, the actor best known for his role on NBC's Law & Order: Special Victims Unit television series, Christopher Meloni is in talks for an undisclosed role in Warner Bros. and Zack Snyder's Superman reboot, Man Of Steel. Christopher Meloni is in line for a big-time follow-up. I hear he is in negotiations for a major role in Man Of Steel, the Superman franchise reboot from Warner Bros that Zack Snyder is directing. No word yet on what part he might get, though. Christopher Meloni, 50, though known for his Detective Law & Order: Special Victims Unit role, has also appeared in HBO's prison drama Oz and recently voiced Hal Jordan in DC's animated Green Lantern: First Flight film. Being that his role in Man Of Steel is unknown, who do you think it could be? Lex Luthor? Man Of Steel is rumored to follow Clark Kent as a freelance

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=40289&:t=Christopher\_Meloni\_Rounding\_Out\_The\_Cast\_Of\_iMan\_Of\_Steeli\_In\_A\_Major\_Role