

For such a relatively low budget movie, Josh Trank and his special effects team managed to pull off some pretty spectacular looking stuff, in particular the scene in which the four friends realize they can fly and take to the skies. This vid gives us an idea of how those shots were achieved.. Three high school friends gain the superhuman abilities of telekinesis, flight, and invulnerability after making an incredible discovery in a mysterious crater. Soon, though, they find their lives spinning out of control and their bond tested as one of them, Andrew Detmer, embraces his darker side. Like I said, it's far too brief. But expect more of the same when the movie is released on DVD and Blu-ray in May.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=57430>