

Speaking to the UK magazine SFX, actor Clark Gregg speaks out on his function in The Avengers, the unparalleled threat the teams faces and the relationship between Nick Fury and Coulson. Source: SFX Magazine On how Agent Coulson's role in The Avengers compares to his role in the previous films: Clark Gregg:" I think he's different in the way everyone is different in The Avengers, in that the whole cast is building together the concept of a team. When you look at the team it's made out of rock stars, divas, and giant muscles with superpowers so somebody has the job backstage at Lollapalooza to make them all play in the same concert and super band - and that's what Agent Coulson does." On how the threat in The Avengers ranks in the eyes of Agent Coulson: Gregg:"Well, you can imagine the kind of threat that would cause Nick Fury, Coulson and Agent
