They've been talking about 'Sin City 2' since we did the first one however many years ago. I had a fantastic time with [Rodriguez] on that movie, I thought the movie was seriously groundbreaking. I'm a big fan of it as a movie. So yeah, of course I would be interested in doing it — but I really don't know what the state of it is." Were you one of the minute few who believed Robert Rodriguez when he stated that Sin City 2 would begin filming this summer? Well, Clive Owen just put the kabosh on your optimism unfortunately....potentially....possibly. Here's a slight glimmer of hope for those still hopeful, the character Dwight, originally portrayed by Owen back in 2005's visual spectacle, undergoes plastic surgery between the events of 'A Dame
