

From the latest issue of SFX Magazine, How I Met Your Mother actress Cobie Smulders discussed her appearance as Agent Maria Hill in Marvel's The Avengers long-awaited movie. Essentially sharing her initial approach to the role, potential "female bonding" with Scarlett Johansson's Black Widow, and relationship with S.H.I.E.L.D. Director Nick Fury, read on below! How was it working with Joss Whedon? It was everything they said it would be. I've wanted to work with Joss for a long time now. I auditioned and then he saw the tape and I was brought in to screen test with him. I somehow convinced him to give me the part. Do you get to bond with Black Widow much? There's not a lot of female bonding because of the central story. I'd like to think behind the scenes they were really good pals like the guys in the locker room. What was your approach to creating Maria?
