

Colossus and Negasonic Teenage Warhead's role in Deadpool was one of the most enjoyable aspects of that movie, so you'll no doubt be glad to learn that they're both set to return in the upcoming sequel. There's no word on how significant a role they'll have in the movie or if we'll see any other X-Men make an appearance, but screenwriters Paul Wernick and Rhett Reese confirmed that they'll appear in a recent interview with Collider. Needless to say, the two heroes showing up should be a lot of fun! PAUL WERNICK: I can't say how much they are...

RHETT REESE: I think we can say. Yeah, they'll be in the sequel. WERNICK: Yeah, they'll make at least an appearance. Until we know more about Deadpool 2 (like, you know, a release date), it's hard to find fault with this decision. After all, new characters like Cable and Domino will be showing up, while delving into the Merc with the Mouth's relationship with these two is probably
