

Walt Disney Studios had a banner year in 2016 and their extremely hot streak looks to continue into the new year with a number of films that could quickly attain mega-blockbuster status. First up on the docket is Bill Condon's eagerly awaited live-action remake of the animated classic Beauty and the Beast, which stars Emma Watson (Harry Potter) and Dan Stevens (Legion) in the lead roles. The duo will be joined by a number of top-notch actors and actresses who will help bring the castle staff to life. As a follow-up to their poster reveal yesterday, Disney debuted a musical new TV spot during NBC's broadcast of the 74th Golden Globes Awards last night featuring a number of new shots of footage, but more importantly, our first true preview at one of the songs, which is of course the classic "Something There," this time sung by Watson. Check out the spot below:  Plus, here's a new still from the movie, in glorious high-resolution:  Disney's "Beauty and the Beast"
