

A few years ago, we brought you a series of 'ComicBookMovie101"s in order to help you guys do everything possible in order to create the very best articles you can. After all, a well presented and eye catching post is far more likely to receive main page coverage than one that isn't! However, CBM has changed a lot as it has continued to grow, so we are once again bringing you a series of tutorials. Of course, you'll need to be a registered member of the site in order to take full advantage of these, so do that by clicking HERE if you haven't already. Is there anything in particular you would like to know how to do? Well, tell us below and we'll be sure to cover that in a future instalment of this feature!
