

A while back, regular CBM user THEHAWK posted an editorial about his time here on the site and while my experiences haven't been quite as "death defying" (so to speak), I've seen a huge change in the site. I've seen it grow from just a few members to the massive online community it has now become. I thought it would be fun to talk about the times when even JoshWilding, RorMachine and others were just noobs! If I were to take a bet, I'd say that a majority of the users currently on the site have joined in the last year or so. Prior to the site taking off to new levels of awesome, there were just a handful of folks who were regular contributors here at CBM. What originally brought me to this site, and several other users that I know, was an article that was posted stating that Wolverine would
