

From DC's The Source blog.. Captain Cold has been glimpsed and teased in the pages of THE FLASH thus far, but in issue 7 he'll be back with a vengeance – and we all know that revenge is a dish best served cold. He'll be cooling off in a cell in Iron Heights Prison for now, but in the meantime you can feast your ice – er, eyes – on our first look at his redesign for DC COMICS-THE NEW 52. So gone is the classic parka/ice gun combo for something a bit cooler..no pun intended. Nice to see the visor intact though. Captain Cold has always looked and sounded kinda ridiculous but as any Flash fan knows he is much more dangerous than he looks and quite an interesting villain. No indication of which villains will be joining him in the Rogues Gallery but if it is the classic team (as is mentioned
