

From this cover, it appears that Cap will lead The Avengers against Cyclops' team of X-Men, with Wolverine and the Jean Grey School For Higher Learning caught in the middle or possibly playing peacemaker? Wolverine as peacemaker? No wonder this brawl is happening, I imagine Logan's mediation strategy is to just knock everyone out so they can't argue (which sounds like a damn good comic). "This April, as the flames of war are stoked by the impending arrival of the Phoenix Force, the New Avengers have received the call to arms by Captain America to go to war against the X-Men. Except where does the loyalty of Wolverine lie? Find out in New Avengers #24 from the blockbuster creative team of Brian Michael Bendis and Mike Deodato!"
