

Last week we got our first look at The Phantom, The Talon, Sword of Sorcery and Team 7, all of which will be a part of DC's upcoming third wave this September. We know exactly which titles are going to be cancelled to make room to those four. The books will be Voodoo, Captain Atom, Justice League International and Resurrection Man. While Justice League International last issue is going to be in August, the other three will have their final issues during the "#0" event in September. Covers for Captain Atom, Voodoo and Resurrection Man:
