

The launch of Batman Incorporated #1 as a part of DC's "Second Wave" of titles will see a continuation of the story started by writer Grant Morrison before the events of Flashpoint. Set in the current DC Universe, most of the changes are said to be purely cosmetic, although it is expected to be at least somewhat new-reader friendly. In other news, it was also announced today that May will see the release of Scott Lobdell, Tom DeFalco and Brett Booth's Teen Titans Annual #1 and Jeff Lemire and Timothy Green II's Animal Man Annual #1.
