

Yes, it seems the unkillable Wade Wilson will be taking a dirt nap in his 50th issue next February. No word yet as to just how serious this is (I mean lets face it, with this character anything is possible) but here is what we do know so far. In February 2012's DEADPOOL #50, the Merc With a Mouth finally finds a way to die, and with the help of writer Daniel Way and artist Carlo Barberi he's ready to take it. Check back tomorrow for more information. There you go, updates should be in tomorrow. Will he stay dead for more than a couple of months? I for one hope so! I like the character but I could do without seeing him for a while. By TwitterButtons.com

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=48316&t=COMICS_iDeadpool_iDies_In_2012