

Dan Slott may very well have spoiled the identity of the new Superior Spider-Man when he inadvertently sent a public Tweet to artist Ryan Stegman instead of a private message. Slott had been very careful not to let any of the secrets contained in the pages of The Amazing Spider-Man #700, leading into The Superior Spider-Man #1 slip thus far, but now the cat would seem to be out of the bag. And the (probable) identity of the Superior Spider-Man is.. SPOILER SPOILER SPOILER SPOILER SPOILER Highlight this txt to find out - None other than Miguel O'Hara, aka Spider-Man 2099! As I said, there have been great lengths gone to to keep this secret so if you did highlight the name, please don't go spoiling it for everyone else.
