

As Mister Fantastic, The Invisible Woman, The Human Torch and The Thing head off-world with Franklin and Valeria Richards on an epic adventure in the pages of Matt Fraction and Mark Bagley's Fantastic Four, FF will see Ant-Man (Scott Lang) leading a squad of heroes which includes Medusa, She-Hulk and all-new character Miss Thing. "It's a dark twist on what the Fantastic Four is about — it's the other side of the coin," Fraction said of the series earlier this month. Miss Thing has been describe as a "Lohan-esque celebutante blonde" who dons armor based on, well, you can work that one out for yourselves. In the covers below, each of the team get their moment in the spotlight courtesy of artist Mike Allred, and as you can see, all four covers connect to one another.
