

"The war is over, and the warriors return home, carrying with them scars of battle, both physical and mental. Now the cost will be tallied, the casualties buried and mourned, the rubble swept up and carted away. But the damage to our heroes isn't easily repaired, the wounds not easily healed. Decisions are made and lives are changed—can shattered heroes find renewed courage to go on?" – Tom Brevoort, SVP Executive Editor Is this a metaphor, or do you really think we'll see the destruction of Mjolnir by the end of "Fear Itself"? With two more issues to go and several epilogue titles planned, it looks like we still have a little while to wait until we find out just yet! Be sure to share your thoughts in the usual place.
