

Personally, I'm a HUGE fan of Daniel Acuña's art, and am very excited about the news that he'll soon be taking over from John Romita Jr. as the main artist on The Avengers. It's what in these preview pages (released by Brian Michael Bendis via his Twitter account earlier today) that's interesting though. While the HYDRA Hulks are sure to be a fun threat to see the team of heroes face off against, it's the Civil War flashback I'm most intrigued by. What is up with that S.H.I.E.L.D agent stealing one of the dead Goliath's hairs?
