

Marvel is pleased to present your first look at Fear Itself #3 (of 7), from comics superstars Matt Fraction and Stuart Immonen! As The Worthy's campaign of mayhem burns worldwide, Sin comes closer than ever at completing the one task her father never could – the complete conquest of the Marvel Universe! With Thor locked away in Asgard, will Captain America and the rest of the Avengers fall to the forces of Fear Itself? And what fate awaits the hammer that fell on Yancy Street? The tide of war runs blood red as Earth's Mightiest Heroes learn the true price of the Serpent's war this June, only in Fear Itself #3. Many thanks to IGN Comics for the following. What do you think of Fear Itself so far? How does it compare to the other Marvel events of late such as Secret Invasion and Siege? Looking forward to this issue? Share your thoughts
