

The change will go into effect on December 26th with the fifteenth issue of Justice League. Jim Lee is reportedly stepping down to shift his attention to another DC title which will be announced at New York Comic-Con 2012. Justice League #15 and #16 covers Justice League #11 cover by Jim Lee (for comparison) Writer Geoff Johns on the switch- Johns: "There is no other choice for the next A-Star art team on JUSTICE LEAGUE. Ivan Reis and Joe Prado bring power, grace, emotion and epic storytelling worthy of the world's greatest super heroes. From GREEN LANTERN to BLACKEST NIGHT to AQUAMAN, I couldn't ask for better collaborators. The second year of JUSTICE LEAGUE will begin an adventurous, mysterious and heroic storyline focusing on our members as their greatest secrets are revealed...and the repercussions change the world. Ivan and Joe begin with a story they were born to draw — THRONE OF ATLANTIS — a

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=67127>