

One of the most intriguing Marvel NOW! series' is Jonathan Hickman's New Avengers. It was revealed earlier this week that it will focus on the Illuminati; Captain America, Iron Man, Black Bolt, Black Panther, Namor and Doctor Strange. In an interesting chat with our friends over at Newsarama, critically acclaimed artist Jock has shared some new details on his approach to designing the eye catching covers for the series and even lets slip which member of the team is the leader! Be sure to click on the link at the bottom of the page in order to read the interview in full and to check out more unused covers. On Why He Decided To Cast The Team In Shadow On The Covers: Honestly? I just like drawing heavily shadowed figures - there's no conspiracy... I wanted the first shot to be dark, brooding and slightly enigmatic, hence the silhouetted design. Black Panther is

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=68507>