

It remains to be seen whether or not we'll ever see the Justice League battling Task Force X on the big screen, but it's going to take place in the pages of Justice League vs. Suicide Squad #1 this December for a massive crossover event which promises to be an awful lot of fun. Now, following a panel for the event at the New York Comic-Con today, DC Comics has revealed the cover by artist Jason Fabok. As well as offering up a look at some very unique battles, you'll notice that Captain Boomerang is shown as being alive and well. He recently appeared to meet his demise at the hands of General Zod in Suicide Squad #2, but those of you who guessed that he may have instead been transported to the Phantom Zone were probably right! Either way, this crossover definitely can't get here soon enough. Who will you be rooting for? As always, take to the comments section below to let us

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/comics/dc_comics/comics-justice-league-vs-suicide-squad-cover-reveals-that-a145779