

Revealed at the New York Comic Con today, next February will see the release of Guardians of the Galaxy #0.1 from the creative team of Brian Michael Bendis (Avengers) and Steve McNiven (Old Man Logan). The first issue will then follow in March. The roster is the same of that of James Gunn's planned adaptation (Starlord, Groot, Rocket Raccoon, Drax, Gamora), but with one notable addition - Iron Man. February will also see the launch of a brand new Nova series by Jeph Loeb (Avengers: X-Sanction) and Ed McGuinness (Superman/Batman). The teenage Sam Alexander from Avengers Vs. X-Men will be behind the mask.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=68662>