

Roughly 8 months after Nick Spencer's crazy twist that Steve Rogers has been a double agent for Hydra all along, Marvel surprisingly still hasn't reversed course. How much longer do you think the Sentinel of Liberty will continue his evil schemes and behind-the-scenes sabotaging across the various Avengers teams? If this latest trailer is any indication, Hydra Cap will be sticking around for quite a while longer. With Professor X's brain still firmly in the possession of the Red Skull, is there any hope for Steve to return to his normal self? It's the story that shocked the world. Captain America is an agent of Hydra?! Now – superstar creators Nick Spencer and Jesus Saiz bring you the next thrilling chapter in their Captain America epic. It's all happening in "Hail Hydra" – a new story arc kicking off in Captain America: Steve Rogers #7. Available in comic stores everywhere, Marvel is pleased to present a special launch trailer for this blockbuster
