

Talking to Comic Book Resources, Fred Van Lente (The Amazing Spider-Man) has revealed his plans for a special holiday special which will take fans back to the Marvel Zombies universe (originally created by Robert Kirkman of The Walking Dead fame). This October, he will be teaming up with artist Alessandro Vitti (Captain America and Hawkeye) for Marvel Zombies Halloween and you can check out the first details about the issue below. Be sure to click on the link at the bottom of the page to read the interview in full. On The Premise Of Marvel Zombies Halloween: The franchise is known for being really over the top and focusing on the insane idea of zombie-infected super heroes. And in the past, we've done stories with martians, robots, knights and many of Marvel's monster characters. So for our Halloween one-shot, we're doing more of a "classic" zombie apocalypse story about a woman and her

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=62697>