

Well, this should please fans of Dexter! However, if like me you prefer the TV show over the novels, this may not come as such great news due to the fact that the planned comic book series will be written by the creator of the character and set in the world of Jeff Lindsey's books - and as you may know, they're pretty different from the Showtime series starring Michael C. Hall! Many thanks to Comic Book Resources for the following. The panel wrapped with Quesada saying, "I don't know if you guys are fans of this little series called 'Dexter'..." He then revealed that novelist Jeff Lindsay will bring the popular character to comics with an all-new ongoing series with new stories set in the world of the "Dexter" novels (as opposed to the TV series). And thanks to the guys over at Bleeding Cool for this photo taken at the panel

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=48300&t=COMICS_Marvel_Reveals_Plans_For_Ongoing_iDexter_Series_By_Creator_Jeff_Lindsey