

As well as revealing the covers for Avengers Vs. X-Men #12 and Skottie Young's one-shot, Avengers Vs. X-Men: Babies, Marvel has announced plans for several new books which will follow the conclusion of the event this October. "We're going to do another Marvel Point One," Joe Quesada confirmed at the "Cup O' Joe" panel at today's San Diego Comc-Con. The book will be from Nick Fury Jr.'s point of view and will feature five currently unrevealed characters. Avengers + X-Men will apparently be the opposite of AVX: Versus, while Avengers Vs. X-Men: Consequences is set to be a five-part series from writer Kieron Gillen. As you can see from the various pieces of artwork and teasers below, the Marvel Universe is soon going to be a VERY different place...
