

New York, NY—December 20th, 2011 — The world's most popular super heroes can be found in the pages of Marvel Comics every week, but now their greatest stories are set to conquer the world of prose fiction! Launching in June 2012 with the adaptation of CIVIL WAR, Marvel will release its most popular stories of all time as prose novels. It all begins in CIVIL WAR, adapted by author Stuart Moore (Wolverine), with the story that irrevocably altered the Marvel Universe and redefined comic books for an entire generation. In the wake of a tragedy, Capitol Hill proposes the Superhuman Registration Act, requiring all costumed heroes to unmask themselves before the government. Divided, the nation's greatest champions must each decide how to react — but will you side with Iron Man or Captain America? And just which heroes will pay the ultimate price? "Releasing our most acclaimed graphic novels as prose

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=51606&t=COMICS_Marvel_To_Adapt_CIVIL_WAR_And_Other_Major_Stories_As_Prose_Novels