

Source: io9 On the next Mavel Epic Event Set to hit in 2012: "I'll say this — there's a reason that Fear Itself, X-Men: Schism, and Children's Crusade are all ending around the same time. All of these moments are going to converge into this one giant epic." On his new series The Defenders: "When I began pitching the book, editor Tom Brevoort at Marvel began shorthanding it as the "Casanova Avengers." By the time Defenders is done, you're going to know why everything that has happened in the Marvel Universe has happened, why everything that is going to happen will happen, who's behind it all, and who benefits. It's this very, big, creepy, sprawling cosmic threat that they're defending us from, quite literally. It tells the story of "Why?" I can't believe all the crazy shit I'm getting away with." On how he keeps track of all the stories he writes: "I have a lot of
