

Following the launch of Black Panther and Black Panther: World of Wakanda, Marvel has announced the launch of Black Panther and the Crew. A new take on a 2003 series written by Christopher Priest with art by Joe Bennett, this one spins out of the events of a two-part story in Black Panther #7 and #8 and it will be written by Ta-Nehisi Coates and Yona Harvey with art by Butch Guice. Assembling Black Panther, Storm, Luke Cage, Misty Knight, and Manifold, the action is going to be set in Harlem, NYC. As you can see, Misty has been given a new look which dials down some of the more cartoonish aspects we've seen in the past, with her huge hair and cleavage done away with. Instead, she looks a lot closer to her Netflix counterpart and is now the spitting image of Luke Cage star Simone Missick. The story kicks off by following what happens after an activist is killed in police custody, and
