

Source: CBR In his last column for CBR before the new year, Marvel Editor-In-Chief Axel Alonso once again answers fan questions about a bevy of topics. Here are some of the highlights of that Q&A. In response to the announcement that Marvel would start producing Toy Story comics, Axel responds to the notion of Marvel similarly producing comic books for Disney characters like Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Scrooge McDuck, etc.: ALONSO: "There are no immediate plans for us to produce comic books featuring Walt Disney characters. That said, "Deadpool vs. Goofy: This Time It's Personal" is a dream. Mark Millar writing, Geof Darrow drawing...just sayin'." Brian Michael Bendis was recently revealed to be passing on writing duties to someone else on Marvel's Avengers titles. Axel responds to a question about whether New Avengers a spinoff of the main title would be ending: ALONSO: "We have a plan, but it's far too soon to reveal any details
