

Source: Newarama Speaking to Newsarama, writer Paul Levits shares some details about the upcoming Earth-2 and World's Finest titles. Question: The description of this series is that the characters are stranded on a parallel earth and are trying to get home to Earth 2. How does Earth 2 work in the New 52 universe? Is it still part of 52 Earths? LEVITS: "Most of that is James Robinson's territory, and I will leave that to him. My turf is to look at these two women who are interestingly complex human beings, reacting to an extraordinarily disruptive situation in very different ways. And yet they're good friends, and they're surviving — maybe arguably thriving — in an alien world, with each others' help. But their priorities are very different. Their approach to what's happening to them is very different. And that's cool territory to explore. These are kids I love playing with, and yet they're in a
