

Justice League #6 was a pretty good read, light on the dialogue and heavy on the action as the JL put a stop to Darkseid's evil machinations. However, the standout development of the issue was the sudden appearance of The Phantom Stranger, who approaches the equally mysterious Pandora, the woman responsible for the relaunch of the DC Universe. In short, Stranger arrives to chastise Pandora for getting involved in the "real world" and resetting the universe. She gets real when Stranger responds to Pandora's rude greeting by replying "Be glad they [Circle of Eternity] didn't send The Spectre." Specifically, Phantom Stranger has arrived to take "Pandora's Box" from her and reset the universe to the way it was. Pandora responds by shooting Stranger in the head, with strange mystical guns, to which Stranger promptly gets back up and and, excuse my paraphrasing , "try again, bitch." However, Pandora

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=55528&t=COMICS_Phantom_Stranger_Appears_In_Justice_League_6_Hints_At_Putting_DCnU_Back_To_The_Way_It_Was