

Thanks to Bleeding Cool we have the following excerpts from a statement by Bob Wayne about the relaunching of the DC Universe this September. To read the whole thing, click on the link at the bottom of the page. For now, here is the most interesting excerpt. It would appear that despite speculation, the new range of #1 titles won't mean that the DCU is starting from scratch...however, with conflicting reports stating that this is a fresh start, what exactly is it if not a reboot? With The New DCU – the September launch of our 52 #1s – we have created an event that we believe will generate unprecedented buzz, and, more importantly, unprecedented sales results for you. This is a shock to the system, no question, but we have the quality stories and the unrivaled sales/marketing support and the increased public attention to help you best absorb that shock

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=38625&t=COMICS_Relaunch_Of_DC_Universe_Is_Apparently_NOT_A_Reboot