

It has been revealed in the New York Daily News today that this July, when Captain America: The First Avenger is set to hit the big screen, will see the return of Steve Rogers in the iconic costume in the relaunched, Captain America #1, written by Brubaker and drawn by Steve McNiven. Here's what Tom Brevoort, Marvel's senior vice president of publishing, had to say: "Given that we are about to have a big Cap film and Cap's going to be in front of more people and in more folks' awareness than in any other time in recent memory, well, since we killed him, it would probably not be the worst thing in the world for him to be in the suit and carrying the shield at that point." Writer Ed Brubaker, who killed the character back in 2007 and put his WWII sidekick Bucky in the costume, reveals that he's now even

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=34567&t=COMICS Steve Rogers Will Wield The Shield Again In iCaptain America 1i This July>