

Earlier today, DC released the following image of a sampler comic which will hit stores next Wednesday. Among other things, "DC Comics - The New 52 #1" features cover art for every book, never-before-seen sketches, quotes from creative teams and a full 6-page preview of Geoff Johns and Jim Lee's "Justice League #1." Notice anything different? Well, the lads over at Bleeding Cool certainly did! Despite being pictured in pants on the cover to Justice League #1, Wonder Woman #1 and various other bits of promo art, it seems that DC have finally given into the fans and restored the Amazonian princess to a look far more similar to how she's previously been seen in the comics.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=41668&t=COMICS_Wonder_Woman_Losing_Her_Pants_In_The_DC_Relaunch_After_All