

In a lengthy interview with Newsarama, writer Brian Michael Bendis has revealed a few tantalising new details about one of the most intriguing new series to come out of Marvel's upcoming NOW! relaunch, All-New X-Men. This will be one of many new #1 issues in the post Avengers Vs. X-Men Marvel Universe, and features the original five X-Men (Cyclops, Jean Grey, Angel, Beast and Iceman) using time travel to arrive in the present. These will be the teenage versions of the heroes, and rather than being just a gimmicky limited series, it is set to be an ongoing series which will have lasting ramifications for the characters. For more from the writer, including details on his other upcoming projects, be sure to click on the link below to visit the site. On The Transition From Writing 'The Avengers' To Taking Over 'The X-Men': It's a little different from other writers who have

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=64479>