

After years and years of occasionally assisting the team, befriending many of it's members, continuous reluctance and many refusals, this September finds Daredevil:The Man Without Fear officially joining the ranks of The Avengers. That's right! Brian Michael Bendis is officially adding Matt Murdock to The New Avengers line up starting this September in issue #16. From Bendis... "He's got a lot to answer for and a lot to deal with. He is a fish out of water on the Avengers, and that's uncomfortable and damn fun to write." "Daredevil, particularly — and I'm to fault for this as anybody — is never really involved in any of the big events. His story line just never lines up with Skrulls or whatever the hell else we're doing. It was nice to get him in line for an Avengers team, but at the same time have him involved in some of this crazy mishegas we've
