

A long time ago, before Snyder had even cast Henry Cavill in the role of Superman, a rumor arose that the villain-or one of the villains in his reboot would be Doomsday, the vicious beast responsible for Superman's death in a comic storyline. Details were sketchy even then. It was basically just one of those "I heard it through the grapevine" type deals. Many hoped it was true but when Snyder began to reveal details of the movie including who the actual villain would be (General Zod) most people forgot all about Doomsday. But then we heard that Faora would be joining Zod and as set pics began to leak from Plano we were greeted with the site of this guy..

He has come to be affectionately known as Mo-Cap Man. At first many assumed that he might be standing in for a CG incarnation of Michael Shannon's Zod, perhaps a vision
