

While he may not bear much of a resemblance to his comic book counterpart, Cyborg Superman is currently making his presence felt in Supergirl in a big way. Last week, he stole some of the Girl of Steel's blood and paid a visit to the Fortress of Solitude, and we now know that's because he's going to create a virus to kill Earth's aliens (you can see that go down in this other clip from the episode). Cyborg Superman is a villain who should really be used in this series the same way Reverse-Flash was in The Flash, but it seems like he'll just be a pawn of CADMUS in this series. Hopefully that changes as time goes on, but the video below sheds some interesting light on what's to come in "Medusa" and even gives us a glimpse of Barry and Cisco's arrival on Kara's Earth as they recruit her for "Invasion!"
