

Most comic book fans will recognize Daniel Cudmore. Sure, it would be hard to miss him because he stands 6ft 7in, but he earned his recognition in the fanboy community by portraying Colossus in the X-Men Movie franchise. Newsarama got the chance to sit down with Cudmore and talk about his involvement with the X-Men movies, auditioning for Superman Returns, as well as reveals that he auditioned for Man Of Steel. Q:Looking back at the X-Men franchise and your role as Colossus, was the plan always to have him become a major player in Last Stand? "I don't know. I don't know those intricate details when it came to that. I know when I did it first, they were toying with the idea of "What do we do with the next one? Are we going to grow the character?" I was all for it. Colossus has so much more story, history and things

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=68971>