

"I know nothing about that whatsoever," Radcliffe told Hero Complex in a recent interview when asked about the recently launched 'Pottermore' website. "I'm sure that Jo will be writing a lot more in the coming years. I'm sure she has a lot more in her than we've read and a lot more stories to tell. As long as they don't involve Harry, I'm quite happy to buy them." In case you didn't already know, 'Pottermore' is a website that was launched last week and cryptically features nothing more than a couple of owls and the signature of J.K. Rowling. An announcement of some sort is expected later this week. It has been revealed that it is in fact NOT a new book or anything to do with the upcoming movie. Instead, rumors point to it possibly being some sort of MMORPG video game. "Not particularly," he said when asked if he'd like to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=39817&t=Daniel\_Radcliffe\_Not\_Keen\_On\_Returning\_To\_The\_Role\_Of\_Harry\_Potter\_In\_Future