

Rosario Dawson (Clerks 2, Kids, Sin City) currently plays Claire Temple on Daredevil (and the rest of the Netflix shows for that matter), and will most likely continue to do so for some time - but, there is a different Marvel character that fans have wanted to see her cast as for many years now: Jennifer Walters, AKA She-Hulk. When a fan told Dawson that she'd make a great She-Hulk over Twitter, the actress responded very positively, saying that she'd "be honored to assume the role." Of course, even if Dawson wasn't already playing an MCU character, the studio don't have any current plans (that we know of) to adapt She-Hulk for the big or small screen - though Walters is about to take over as The Hulk for a new ongoing comic series, so perhaps that could change at some point. As highly unlikely as it seems, what do you think of this scenario? Would you want to see a She-Hulk movie or

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/daredevil/daredevil-actress-rosario-dawson-says-she-would-be-honored-to-play-a147350>