

With Funko Pops increasing in popularity, it now seems like you can get one based on pretty much anything. Those of you keen on their Marvel offerings, however, will no doubt be very happy to see that Daredevil season two is getting a line of them this February, with a new-ish take on Matt Murdock leading the pack. While the mask and arms have been changed, the body is the same as season one's. Elektra and The Punisher variants are the biggest draws, though, especially the version featuring Frank Castle holding the Man Without Fear's cowl. Of course, the vigilante didn't have the skull logo on his chest at that point, so that's a rare error from Funko! The Jessica Jones Pops are on sale now, but the lack of David Tennant's Kilgrave is a real let-down. What do you guys think of these latest figures?

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/daredevil/daredevil-season-2-and-jessica-jones-funko-pops-include-the-punisher-a148423>