

The other night in Burbank, CA. a small collection of people were given the honor of viewing an early test screening of Tim Burton's Dark Shadows. Ain't It Cool News had a member of their site in attendance and they have the scoop on what was shown. "I can honestly say that I really enjoyed it and that it does have some great laughs in it." "I don't know much about the original series or what the tone might have been, but this version is most definitely a comedy, and a pretty damned funny one." ..... "The film opens with a flashback narrated by Depp, showing a young Barnabas and his family leaving England for the New World in the late 1700's. We see the Collins family make their fortune and home in America, watching as Barnabas grows up to be a young man, and quite the heartbreaker. He eventually breaks the heart of the

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/nailbiter111/news/?a=56352>