

FX Network has released two darkly humorous promos for their upcoming X-Men spinoff, Legion, giving us a better look at the son of Charles Xavier, David Haller (Dan Stevens), his incredibly dangerous mutant abilities, and more of the show's supporting cast. From everything we've seen so far, the show looks to be a very unique and stylized departure from the X-Men series, which isn't too surprising coming from executive producer Noah Hawley (Fargo). Let us know what you think of Legion in the comments! The show will debut on February 2017 on FX.

Legion follows David Haller, a troubled young man who may be more than human. Diagnosed as schizophrenic, David has been in and out of psychiatric hospitals for years. But after a strange encounter with a fellow patient, he's confronted with the possibility that the voices he hears and visions might be real.

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/x-men/david-haller-may-be-the-most-powerful-mutant-alive-in-two-new-promos-for-a146202>